“But in all these things we overwhelmingly conquer through Him who loved us.” Rom. 8:28

Thank you for upholding me in your prayer while I have been dealing with stress due to family problems. My heart aches as I see my mother struggling without Christ. She was always a wonderful mother to me until the day that I chose Christ. She had set her high hopes on me and her dream was shattered when I refused to reject Him. Her heart has been bitter toward me ever since. In her disappointment, she has spent all of her money and lost all of her possessions in gambling. She felt that she did not need to save an inheritance for me as her only daughter any more. But, she blames her debt and losing on me. As I could not help her with her debt she is more bitter towards me and does not want me to be in contact with anyone else in the family. I must admit that this whole situation has really made me feel so sad.

I left Bangkok on March 20th to fly to America with a heavy heart. During my layover in Taipei, I lost all of my Nikon camera equipment. Photography is one of my favorite hobbies and that made me feel even sadder! Upon arriving in Los Angeles, I was sick with a bladder infection and ended up at the hospital! I was absolutely discouraged. A few weeks after that, I got sick again with a bad cold.

I am well aware that the enemy is trying to discourage me so that I won't focus on what God has called me to do. But, I praise God that His grace is always sufficient and I know that I am on the winning side in this spiritual warfare! I have to remind myself of God's promises and stay focused.

Thank you for your support.

In Him,
Chanaddah Chaisakorn

Ministering in Texas, Virginia and Maryland

Despite my discouragement, I traveled to Houston, Texas to work with two groups of women. I taught these precious Thai ladies the book of Ruth and spoke with another group regarding missions. I praise God that everything went well and His name is honored.

I have also spoken in Virginia at a Filipino Women's Retreat. It's amazing how these ladies saved for about a year in order to have their first Women's Retreat. I was very touched by their sincerity and true hunger for the word of God. I had a wonderful time ministering through teaching, speaking, and counseling to both singles and married women. God also opened an unexpected door to do the same thing in Maryland during that time. God certainly moved in their hearts through His powerful word. I have seen many changed lives during that 7 weeks period.

Prayer Requests

I have been feeling very weak physically and my immune system has gotten run down. I know that this is a result of working too hard without taking time to rest for the past five months. I have frequently been sick this year. Certainly this is a warning sign to take good care of my health and not over commit myself. Please pray for my health that I might be able to regain my strength and be healthy again soon. Remember my mother in your prayer as well. I truly want to have a good relationship with her and see her open her heart to the Lord.

Thank you for your prayer and encouragement.

In Him,

Chanaddah Chaisakorn
